Listing of Non-Profit Organizations serving
Lancaster, Northumberland and Middlesex Counties

Non-profit organizations that responded to our request for information are listed in Part II. 501(c) (3) tax identification information was provided by all organizations listed. Further information on all non-profit organizations in the Northern Neck and Middle Peninsula areas can be found at www.connectrappahannock.org.

Due to the large number of churches and faith-based organizations, we are unable to list each one separately. However, we acknowledge the important role these organizations play in our community through service, missions, and scholarship programs. Please refer to the yellow pages or weekly editions of the Rappahannock Record and Southside Sentinel for information on local churches.

ON THE COVER:

River Counties Community Foundation is grateful to Jane Stouffer Williams and her family for allowing the use of her painting on the cover of this publication.

“Jane was a great artist, teacher, mentor and leader. She was President of the Rappahannock Art League at the time the Studio Gallery was opened and pioneered the exhibit room that was recently dedicated as the Jane Stouffer Williams Exhibit Room. She organized art tours to museums near and far and bounced up and down the bus aisle assuring everyone had refreshments. Although best known locally for her work in acrylic paint, she was expert in everything from charcoal to hand pulled prints. She was brash and bossy and loved by all.”

PART I

About River Counties Community Foundation (RCCF)

River Counties Community Foundation was established in 1996 to benefit both philanthropists and charities in the counties of Lancaster, Northumberland and Middlesex. It is governed by a local advisory board of 12 representatives from the three counties and is tax exempt as a regional affiliate of The Community Foundation Serving Richmond and Central Virginia.

The role of the Community Foundation is to hold and manage assets for the charitable purposes you recommend, and provide a permanent community endowment to support local charitable endeavors.

During 2008, RCCF distributed $467,000 from all types of funds. This brings the total distributed by RCCF since inception to over $3 million in grants.

RCCF also continues to build a permanent philanthropic endowment to serve the interests of our donors and the needs of the local community. Current assets in these funds totalled just under $4 million at the end of 2008. This $4 million is exclusive of the current $2.4 million in deferred gifts for which the foundation serves as trustee.

Through the Foundation, anyone can become a philanthropist by giving to an existing fund or creating a new fund to carry out your own unique philanthropic ideas. We invite you to learn more about us and our commitment to serving the needs of our community as facilitators for donors and helping to ensure the stability of our local non-profit community. Types of Endowed Funds

A fund begins with a donor's desire to create a vehicle to advance his or her philanthropic interests. A fund can be designed with only one meeting, and most gift agreements are two-page letters drafted without incurring legal fees.

- Donor Advised Funds – *Stay Involved: You, the donor, make recommendations concerning distributions of income. You identify philanthropic interest of importance to you, and you recommend grants to charitable organizations that further those interests. The Foundation Board gives full consideration to your wishes and complies with your recommendations to the full extent permitted by law.
- Field of Interest Funds – *Address Issues: You decide the general purpose of the fund, such as education, arts or health, and the Foundation will identify the projects that are effectively making a difference in that area through the community grants process.
- Unrestricted Funds – *Think Broadly: Allow the Foundation to identify needs and opportunities in the community and target your dollars where the needs and benefits are the greatest through the community grants process.
- Designated Funds – *Provide Ongoing Support: You choose a specific organization or group to receive long-term support. Income from your gift is disbursed annually, according to your designation. The Foundation Board may recommend new recipients, but only if it becomes impossible or unwise to continue providing funds to the original beneficiaries.
- Scholarship Funds – *Provide Students' Educational Support: Scholarship funds allow you as a donor to make grants directly to individuals. You participate in the scholarship program design, determine the scholarship criteria to be used, and are involved in the recipient selection, if desired. The program administration and management is handled by the Foundation.
- Memorial Funds – *Create a Permanent Legacy for Future Generations: You may establish a fund in memory of a person of your choosing, or someone you may wish to honor with a lasting testimonial during their lifetime.

“You make the difference. We make it possible.”

- Agency Endowment Funds – *Allow RCCF to Manage Agency Funds: This is available to benefit other charitable organizations that prefer the advantages of establishing an endowment fund with River Counties Community Foundation rather than creating and managing a fund themselves.
- Administrative Endowment Funds – *Provide Operating Support: You may wish to make a gift that will fund administrative and outreach expenses for River Counties Community Foundation.
- RCCF Endowment Fund - *Make Contributions Without Establishing a New Fund: Anyone can make contributions in any amount to this fund and distributions will be made to various charities throughout the community to address issues of greatest concern.

Marion and Leland James

Establishing a record of giving to our favorite charities ensures that the board will continue to fund them as long as they are viable. If we are gone and the charities are no longer viable, we can be assured that our fields of interest will be funded by similar charities, whether new or already in existence.

In reading through the list of named funds established through RCCF I was struck by the number of funds started by former and present Advisory Board members. Since Board members are not selected because of a perceived potential to donate, and no pressure is put on them to start a fund, there must be another reason. I believe the reason is that they see at every meeting the needs of the community come into focus, and as active, interested community members, they soon find themselves pondering how they can help the community in the areas they are passionate about. The result is often the initiation of their own named fund

Making a Lasting Gift

We recommend that you discuss your interest in making a lasting gift with a qualified professional: your bank trust officer, CPA, estate planner, attorney or other financial advisor. River Counties Community Foundation has professionals available to work with you to help you achieve maximum results from your donation. Because the Community Foundation is flexible, you can create a lasting gift in a variety of ways.

■ Cash: A simple, convenient way to give and receive tax advantages.

■ Securities: Gifts of appreciated securities are particularly attractive as a way to avoid taxes on capital gains. Because River Counties Community Foundation is a public charity, it qualifies for the best available treatment under current tax laws.

■ Property: Many donors contribute real or personal property. Property that has appreciated may offer you significant tax advantages.

■ Bequests: Consider designating a specific dollar amount or a percentage of your estate or leave the residue of your estate to River Counties Community Foundation. Bequests are usually fully deductible for federal and state tax purposes.

■ Life Insurance: Consider giving a paid up life insurance policy to River Counties Community Foundation. If the policy is not paid-up, you may continue to pay the premiums and receive tax deductions for the amount of the premiums.

■ Charitable Remainder Trust (CRT): A CRT enables you to provide a lifetime income to yourself, your spouse, or other beneficiary and provide the trust principal to River Counties Community Foundation at your death. This principal can be used to create a permanent fund named for you or a loved one to forever carry out your charitable wishes.

■ Charitable Lead Trust (CLT): A CLT enables you to provide current support to River Counties Community Foundation through annual payments from the trust's income for a period of years. These payments flow into an endowed fund named for you. Upon termination of the trust, the principal could return to you or go to other beneficiaries such as your grandchildren.

■ Private Foundation Transfer: Some trustees of private foundations find the demands of reporting, administering and making grants from their foundation burdensome. They favor transferring their assets to River Counties Community Foundation for professional management of both their dollars and grant making directives. Private foundations, in particular, may find this desirable as they would be relieved of paying excise taxes and other regulations. Such funds can be transferred with the assurance that philanthropic interests of the donor will live on in perpetuity.

70-1/2: The magic age to donate IRA assets

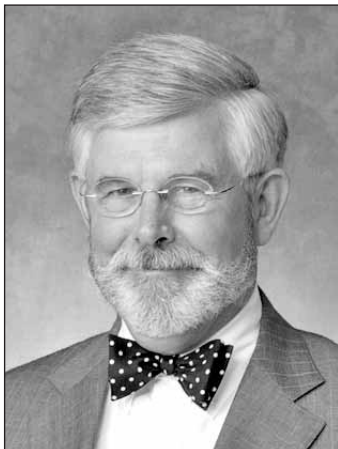

Congress has approved an opportunity that encourages older Americans to donate Individual Retirement Account assets to non-profits such as River Counties Community Foundation. The IRA Charitable Rollover Provision can benefit you if you meet the following requirements:

- Will be at least 70-1/2 by the end of 2009.
- Have an IRA account.
- Would like to donate up to $100,000 a year and have the gift excluded from being counted as income.
- Need to make your annual minimum distribution which is required starting in the year you turn 70-1/2.
- Would like to help your community with a charitable gift.

At River Counties Community Foundation donors who are at least 70-1/2 can use IRA assets to create or add to an existing:

- Scholarship fund,
- Designated fund to benefit specific charities, or
- Field of interest fund to provide grants for education, the arts or other areas of community concern, or
- The River Counties Community Foundation Endowment Fund to enable the foundation to award grants to non-profits meeting critical needs.

The IRA Charitable Rollover Provision is set to expire after 2009, so there is limited time to take advantage of it. For more details contact Margaret Nost, Director, at 804-438-9414

Part II

Throughout the counties of Lancaster, Middlesex and Northumberland, non-profit agencies, organizations, educational endeavors and clubs, often staffed only by dedicated volunteers, are working for the common good of our community. They are able to do good things because of the generosity of others in the community — philanthropists — who support them in many ways.

A number of non-profit groups in our area are described in this catalogue. Perhaps you can donate your time or special skills to help them with worthwhile projects. Perhaps you can donate money so they can concentrate more on their good works and less on struggling to find the funds they need to make it all possible.
